Those planning to put their application should come early tomorrow as the quota for West Virginia and Maryland for the month is but 150 men.

BETTER CAR SUPPLY FOR THE SNOWBIRDS

That Would Be Outcome of Plan Being Worked Out.

Team track loaders of this section will soon have an adequate car supply if plans now under consideration mature, as they are expected to. The plan is to change the zone for shipments of box car coal to permit shipment to be made to points in Ohio, Indiana and Pennsylvania. This will permit the loading of empty box cars being returned to the west for shipments of foodstuffs to the eastern ports.

Officials of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad have already approved the plan, now awaiting the action of the federal fuel authorities at Washington. The new plan it is believed will insure approximately 200 more cars per day to the operators in the northern part of the state.

The new plan now being taken up was presented to the team and truck loaders at the big meeting held at Clarksburg Saturday evening by D. R. Lawson, district representative of the U. S. Fuel Administration. It was also agreed that a committee should be appointed to go to Washington and present the problem to the authorities, if necessary.

The meeting at Clarksburg was attended by one hundred team and truck loaders from the northern part of the state.

Fifteen New Members. With the car supply as low as it has been for the past few weeks, the necessity of a good organization among the team truck loaders was apparent. It was the general opinion of those present that instead of a separate organization, the team and truck loaders should join the Northern West Virginia Coal Operators' Association.

Floyd J. Patton, secretary of the Northern West Virginia Coal Operators' Association was present and signed up fifteen new members. Others expressed their intentions of entering the organization in the near future. Others present already belonged to the organization.

Among the speakers at the meeting were: D. R. Lawson, Floyd J. Patton, Uncle Dan Howard and H. H. Marsh.

Coal Calls. While the car supply in the region is very good today, there are again many late placements. Reports show that there are 2,013 cars in the region today and of this number only 1,474 have been placed. The total number of cars in the region is 35 box and 71 coke cars.

C. A. Butcher of the Ferguson & Butcher Coal Company of Meadowbrook was in the city today and while here stopped at the office of the Northern West Virginia Coal Operators' Association. Mr. Butcher, a team track loader of prominence in that section, reports that they have had but three cars a week. At present they are prepared to load at least four cars per day. The company now has five thousand tons of coal uncovered and ready to load just as soon as they are able to get the cars.

HOUSE LINEN FOR ARMY HOSPITAL

The Fairmont Chapter of the American Red Cross has received from headquarters a call for a quantity of household linen for hospital use. The contribution designated as a Red Cross Linen shower began this morning and will continue through the week. The contribution to be left at Red Cross headquarters in this city building. The call is an urgent and is made in response to the appeal from the Red Cross Commission in France for hospital supplies in large quantities as follows: $1,250,000 both towels, 2,500,000 hand towels, 1,750,000 handkerchiefs, 5,000 napkins and 25,000 sheets.

The allotment for the Fairmont chapter including auxiliaries is as follows: 30 bath towels, 600 hand towels, 300 handkerchiefs, 250 napkins, 125 sheets.

Specifications for the articles are as follows: Bath towels, 19x38 inches, hand towels, 18x20 inches, handkerchiefs, 18x18 inches; napkins, 14x14 inches; sheets, 64x102 inches. Sheets should be heavy unbleached muslin, with two-in. hem, at top and one inch at bottom, though articles which do not conform in the size of hem will be accepted. The articles must be new or practically new and clean and should be of strong materials. If one article is contributed from each household, it is suggested, no one will feel the loss.

MAY ARREST JURY DUTY DODGERS IN MARION COUNTY

Judge Haymond Had Trouble to Start Out Case Today.

Disregard for legal service as jurors has become so flagrant in Marion county that this morning Judge Haymond in Circuit court said he intended to have rules issued against men who were legally summoned and failed to appear. This course will depend on whether or not the jurors have a valid and legal excuse for non-appearance, and will not apply to those which the court itself has excused.

John and Mary Ott, charged with conspiring to murder Earl Furbie, who was shot Seven Pines, Mannington district, on Saturday, August 3, are up for trial. Of the sixty jurors summoned in the special venire today, not more than forty appeared. With those that qualified as not being opposed to capital punishment last week there were fifty-six jurors in court today. Because of the brevity of time it was impossible to summon all of the jurymen of the last special venire, and in some instances the telephone was pressed into service, which is held by the courts not to be legal service. In such cases in Marion county a rule would not be issued against the men until written service has been served on them and they should ignore that.

For all reasons today forty-six jurors were excused in court. Of the number more than fifty per cent were for conscientious scruples. Eight jurors were excused by Judge Haymond today because they had heard the arguments of the attorneys in the case of the State of West Virginia against Clark Ott, who was convicted of murder and sentenced to serve twelve years in the State Penitentiary at Martinsburg.

F. R. Clelland, city, was excused for having served on a jury within the past four years.

John and Mary Ott were in the court room today and are being represented by Attorney Will D. Morris, of Clarksburg, and L. C. Musgrave, of Fairmont. The state's case is being handled by W. R. Haggerty, Harry Shaw, E. H. Hamilton, Miss Mary Powell, Mrs. L. M. Pierce, C. L. Clayton, Sylvester Clayton, Guy Cochran, Clarence Musgrave, Maurice E. Miller, Arch Brownfield, Harry F. Smith, Ernest Sherwood, Michael Powell.

When court arose at noon today ten men were in the jury box and the deputy sheriffs were sworn to keep them together and bring them into the court room at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

At noon the third special venire was resorted to and the following jurors were drawn: C. E. Nuzum (F), P. M. Gettings (F), James S. Furbie (M), Charles E. Fisher (L), Charles Vandegrift (G), Wm. C. Anderson (W), Jacob W. Tennant (M), Harry L. Cramer (F), U. N. Arnett (F), Thos. L. Boggess (L), David Hayhurst (W), Joseph F. Nixon (G), J. W. Orr (G), Harry S. Thorn (P), J. W. Gump (M), Homer S. Bell (F), Jos. W. Gilmer (L), A. Y. Hays (P), H. L. Kendall (M), James Glasscock (F), N. C. Conaway (F), R. D. Prickett (F), Louis D. Campbell (F), Walter C. Corbin (F), W. F. Robertson (M), L. C. Straight (F), Fletcher B. Piggett (L), A. J. Michaels (F).

The deputy sheriffs were directed to have as many of the newly summoned jurors in court as possible by 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Many Signed Up—Judge Vincent, of the intermediate court, has filled out forty eight questionnaires to date. For four days he worked this is an average of twenty a day.

Many interesting stories are told at campaign headquarters of sacrifices made by people in order to buy Liberty bonds which are interesting and demonstrate the spirit of patriotism which is paramount in the hearts of the people of this community.

A young woman who is prominently identified with the Liberty Loan campaign had been presented with a check for several hundred dollars with which to purchase a much coveted set of furs. The furs were secured and kept by the young woman for a period of 24 hours. Then the patriotism of the young woman came to the surface and she decided that it would be made patriotic to put this money in Liberty bonds, accordingly the furs were returned to the shop and the money invested in Liberty bonds. Two other similar instances where furs were sacrificed to purchase Liberty bonds have been recorded, one a young woman office assistant who put the money saved into the bonds and another of a young married woman who had earned a hundred dollars with which she planned to purchase a fur coat. The scarf was sacrificed and the bond purchased.

Governor Cornwell related a touching incident while waiting for lunch to be served at the Fairmont Saturday which shows that patriotism exists in other counties as well as in Marion county. An old lady, according to the governor, who is a resident of Hampshire county and who is not endowed with much of this world's goods had saved the sum of one hundred dollars which she desired to be used as pay her burial expenses. She had been the wife of a Civil war veteran and when America entered the war was entirely cut off of sympathy with the war. Upon hearing an address delivered by the chief executive of the state she became touched with patriotic feelings, stepped up to a solicitor, handed over her roll of savings and requested that they be put in a Liberty bond, same to be sold at her death and the money devoted to paying for her funeral.

WEST VIRGINIA WAR WORK

WEST VIRGINIA COUNCIL OF DEFENSE

Mountainers are Always Free.

The War Trophy Train, a war exhibition similar to that seen in Ohio, Marshall and Wetzel counties last week, is touring southern West Virginia this week coming into this state over the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad and making its first stop at Romeoville at five o'clock this afternoon. The train is composed of flat cars with big guns and war trophies and other cars showing a display of war trophies of warfare used by the Allies and their enemy which are explained by returned soldiers who accompany the special train.

There was an effort to switch the route originally laid out at Richmond and have the special train come along the C. & O. to Charleston, then go on the Coal and Coke and over the Baltimore and Ohio to Clarksburg, Parkersburg and down the Ohio river but that was impossible. The original itinerary did not include a stop at Charleston but former Governor W. A. MacCorkle, chairman of the state organization of the Liberty Loan protested so emphatically that advice came providing for stops at Alderson, Hinton, Thurmond, Montgomery, Charleston Wednesday, October 2, St. Albans, Barboursville, Logan, Huntington, Kenova, Fort Gay, Kermitt, Williamson, Thatcher, Glen Allen, Davy, Welch, Vivian, Northfork and Bluefield.

Former Governor MacCorkle will not accompany the trophy train. Two orators are expected to accompany it and there will not be addresses by local speakers excepting in the event that the train should be late when Four Minute Men will be expected to occupy the attention of the crowds in connection with patriotic events which may be arranged by the various organizations co-operating in the Fourth Liberty Loan campaign.

The effort of the West Virginia Council of Defense to co-ordinate war work is bearing fruit in various parts of the state. The various organizations which have done such effective service in connection with previous Liberty Loans and with Red Cross drives and similar calls upon the people have shown a disposition to get together with a view of greater efficiency which is highly gratifying to those attempting to direct the energies of the people of the Mountain State in aiding the successful prosecution of the war. The Fourth Liberty Loan campaign has opened in a way that is highly gratifying to former Governor MacCorkle, who has just returned to Charleston from a brief visit to Washington, and reports which come to Governor Cornwell's office at the capitol are all gratifying.

The coal interests of the state are to once more make a big effort in connection with the Fourth Liberty Loan and following a meeting held last week in Charleston a letter has been sent this week outlining plans by which operators hope to have that important industry show up to greatest possible advantage in the present patriotic effort.

The United War Work campaign which is to be the next big drive after the Fourth Liberty Loan, is being handled from headquarters at Huntington by John B. Stevenson is state chairman and George L. Goodwin, the state director, spent Saturday in Washington.
